

The Sacramento Record-Union says: It has been known ever since the advent of the young Emperor of Germany that Prince Bismarck, now very aged, would improve an early opportunity to retire to that rest he so well deserves. It was hoped, however, that his retirement would not be had under political stress, as it seems now has happened. The dispatches assert positively that he has resigned his post as chancellor of the German Empire, and that the Emperor has accepted his resignation, the differences between the ruler and his minister being irreconcilable. It matters very little what were the immediate causes of the rupture; it suffices to know that the strongest politician and most far-seeing minister in continental Europe has taken off the harness, and that it is to a young, hot-headed and ill-advised ruler he has surrendered. That Germany will be moved to its very center by the event, goes without saying. General Von Caprivi, Commander of the Tenth Army Corps, has been appointed Chancellor of the Empire to succeed the retired Prince.

Blair's "Sunday Rest Bill," now before Congress, is the most absurd thing ever heard of. It provides for the closing of all saloons, public houses, gardens and places of amusement on the Sabbath, and prohibits the hiring of livery teams for pleasure trips, the delivery of the mails, running of railroad trains, publication of newspapers, etc., and contains many other objectionable and obnoxious features. But why not "go the whole hog," and prohibit a man's bowels from working on Sunday, and make audible flatulence a crime, compel ships at sea to heave-to and wait for Monday to come along, and muzzle cattle in the fields?—Homer Inds.

There is a rush of boomers to the Cherokee lands. What for? Simply because men will not take pains to post themselves. It takes some money even to go there and locate. After that what do they expect? They can make no more than a living for years to come. But were they to take what they have and settle in some valley, say of Idaho, everything they could raise—and they could raise more than on the Cherokee strip—would bring a good price in gold. Instead of a land saturated with malaria they would be in as healthy a spot as there is in the world; and after a year or two they would wonder that they ever had an infatuation for any other country.—Salt Lake Tribune.

Another "bloody chasm" has been bridged. St. Louis congratulates Chicago on her capture of the World's Fair. The lion and the lamb have lain down together; the hatchet is buried and everything is lovely. This is a surprise to many, but the secret of it all is that St. Louis is preparing to go for a bigger thing. The capital of the nation must soon be moved westward to a more central position, and St. Louis will show that she stands in just the right spot. Chicago will not now dare to say a word against this little St. Louis scheme.—Enterprise.

The East is beginning to wake up to the fact that where the "Mongolian wedge" is permitted to find entrance it never ceases to make its way. The Enterprise says. Deeper and deeper it goes day by day into the industries of the country. There is now to be made in New York a grand effort to drive out the Chinese laundries. It will be a job on a par with the attempt in Australia to eradicate the rabbits. Australia took kindly to the "bunnies" when they first came, as did the people in the East to the "cunning little brown men."

There is a girl in Reno who can put a whole egg in her mouth and close her mouth over it, and she is not a bad looking girl either.
